Philadelphia, PA (July 19, 2018) –Manko, Gold, Katcher & Fox attorneys Todd Kantorczyk and Diana Silva presented "Managing Your Liabilities and Risks: Today and Tomorrow," on Wednesday, July 18, 2018. Brett Slensky, Environmental, Health and Safety Counsel for Saint-Gobain Corporation rounded out the panel. The program was part of the half-day Health, BioTech & Pharma Law CLE Institute in King of Prussia, PA sponsored by the Greater Philadelphia Chapter of the Association of Corporate Counsel (ACC).

With citizen groups taking a more proactive role and with new developments in the potential environmental impacts from the materials and methods used in healthcare industry operations, the panel discussed areas that require close awareness and control to protect businesses today and in the future.

MGKF Partner Todd Kantorczyk has extensive experience advising clients on complex issues related to regulatory compliance, litigation, and transactional matters, particularly in the areas of chemical regulation, air, climate change, and energy. His practice has included matters related to chemical regulation under the Toxic Substances Control Act, as well as natural gas production in the Marcellus Shale Region and associated infrastructure development, including cutting-edge issues affecting the regulation of upstream and midstream natural gas operations under federal and state air quality and water resource programs. Todd serves as the firm's liaison to the Marcellus Shale Coalition and is an active participant in that group's Air Quality subcommittee.

At MGKF, Diana Silva concentrates her practice in environmental litigation, including statutory contribution and cost recovery actions, toxic tort claims, contractual disputes, and administrative enforcement actions. She also counsels clients on environmental regulatory compliance matters, as well as permitting related to land development issues.

During law school, Diana participated in Drexel's co-op program and worked in Exelon's legal department, a leading national energy company and the parent of multiple local electric utilities, including southeastern Pennsylvania's PECO. She also served as a judicial intern for the Hon. L. Felipe Restrepo, then of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, now a judge with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. She is currently an adjunct professor of "Toxic Torts" at Drexel.
