Campbell

Philadelphia, PA (September 22, 2020) – Manko, Gold, Katcher & Fox partner Kate Campbell will serve as a panelist at the American Bar Association's Constitutional Law Committee's "Supreme Court Year in Review 2019-20: The Environmental Cases". The programming will take place virtually on September 25 from noon to 1:30 pm EST. For more details and to register, visit <https://www.americanbar.org/events-cle/mtg/web/405490165/>.

The presentation will focus on several Supreme Court environmental cases, but Campbell will take the lead on Atlantic Richfield Co. v. Christian. She will focus on issues concerning overlapping federal and state court jurisdiction to hear cases involving CERCLA and who is a potentially responsible party liable under CERCLA. Other cases to be covered include U.S. Forest Service v. Cowpasture River Preservation Association, concerning the agency's authority to issue a special use permit to construct a pipeline beneath the Appalachian Trail as well as Trump v. NAACP, concerning important issues of administrative procedure and deference that inform environmental law.

Kate Campbell is a litigation partner at the firm, where she focuses her practice on environmental, toxic tort and class action litigation and Superfund and RCRA remediation matters. Since joining the firm in 2003, she has developed considerable experience in representing potentially responsible parties across the country in CERCLA and RCRA matters, in defending complex toxic tort claims for personal injury, wrongful death, medical monitoring and property damage, and in litigating federal, state and private enforcement actions under an array of environmental statutes.

In addition to her litigation and remediation practice, Kate has also been involved for many years in activities involving Total Maximum Daily Loads ("TMDLs") for toxic pollutants, advocating on behalf of individual clients and a regional coalition of industrial and municipal dischargers. Through this work, she has been able to develop a detailed understanding of the nuances of the Clean Water Act and the TMDL regulatory program, and the contours of TMDL litigation at the federal and state levels.
